

The Insect
(Working Title)
(First Draft)

by

John R Davies

07756 373290
jrdavies2020@gmail.com

INT. RECEPTION HALL, HARPER MANOR

Kelsey Williams and Stephen Muller have just entered the manor. They have recently purchased it so they can pursue their research in private (they are both entomologists).

STEVEN MILLER

I still can't believe you convinced me to buy this place.

Kelsey romantically leans onto Stephen.

KELSEY WILLIAMS

(smirking)

Yeah, I guess I've always had a way with men. The movers should be here in a minute. Be a dear and go help them.

STEVEN MILLER

(groaning/complaining)

If I have to

KELSEY WILLIAMS

(temptatious)

Don't worry babe, I'll make it worth your while later.

Stephen smiles and goes to meet the moving vans.

CUT TO:

INT. HARPER MANOR

Night has fallen. Stephen climbs out of bed to go to the toilet, failing to notice the insect watching him. Meanwhile Kelsey sleeps peacefully, unaware that she is being hunted. The insect decides to move on Stephen first. He leaves the bathroom and is immediately stung by the insect, knocked unconscious rather than killed. He is of no use dead. The insect then drags his body down to the basement where its nest has been built.

CUT TO:

INT. INSECT NEST, HARPER MANOR

Several bodies hang on the walls, held up by silk. Some have been mostly eaten and the viewer can see inside the hollowed out chests of these victims. Where visible, cocoons sit shifting and squirming, indicating the fact that adults will soon hatch from them. Another two bare chested people hang from one wall. They are both alive and awake, but are unable to move despite being aware of their environment. The insect hangs Stephen onto the wall. While he is paralyzed, the insect is not yet ready to lay an egg inside of him. Instead she returns to Kelsey.

CUT TO:

INT. BEDROOM, HARPER MANOR

The insect returns to the bedroom and meets with the estate agent who sold the couple the house, who is fully under the control of the insect.

INSECT

She is attractive to you.

ESTATE AGENT

Yes master. She is incredibly attractive.

INSECT

She would make a good thrall.

ESTATE AGENT

Yes. She would bring many here to be nurseries for your children.

INSECT

Then it shall be so. You may take her as your own, while she will serve me and my children.

The estate agent slowly uncovers Kelsey, showing off her nude body. The insect leans over her and forces its proboscis down her throat.

CUT TO:

INT. RECEPTION HALL, HARPER MANOR

Kelsey and the estate agent are showing a family around the manor. The family is looking to rent the manor from Kelsey through the estate agent. They are silently watched from afar by the insect.